16 Plaintiff, Robbie D. White, ("Plaintiff"), pursuant to the Local Rule 304 and Fed. R. Civ.
 17 P. 72(b), submits his Objections to the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation. (ECF
 18 No. 40). Plaintiff objects to the Magistrate Judge's recommendation to dismiss this action, 19 without prejudice, for lack of prosecution and for failure to comply with the court's order.

20 I. Introduction

21 In the present case Plaintiff's former attorney and the opposing parties stipulated to 22 change the hearing date of the motion to dismiss from November 4, 2021 to January 13, 2022,
 23 with the deadline for filing the opposition on or before December 30, 2021. This stipulation
 24 provided a pro se Plaintiff with enough time to prepare the opposition after withdrawal of his 25 counsel. Subsequently, the hearing date was changed from January 13, 2022 to December 1, 26 2021. Defendants allegedly serve a notice with a new hearing date to Plaintiff via email, in 27 violation of Fed. R. Civ. P. 5(b)(2)(E) that requires a party's consent in writing for receiving 28 documents by electronic means. Realizing that the Plaintiff was not properly served with the notice with a new hearing date, on November 18, 2021 the Magistrate judge issued an order

1 continuing the motion to dismiss hearing to December 8, 2021 (with the deadline for filing the 2 opposition no later than November 24, 2021). But this new order was mailed to Plaintiff only a
3 few days before the deadline for filing the opposition, preventing Plaintiff effectively object the 4 motion to dismiss.

6 A district judge is required to weigh several factors in determining whether to dismiss a
7 case for lack of prosecution. These factors include: (1) the public's interest in expeditious 8 resolution of litigation; (2) the court's need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the 9 defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits and (5) the 10 availability of less drastic sanctions. In the present case all these factors weigh against dismissal.
11 Accordingly, the dismissal would be an abuse of discretion.

12 II. Background

13
14 On December 1, 2020, the present action was removed by Defendants from the Superior
15 Court of the State of California, County of Yolo, Case No. CV2020-1468. (ECF No. 1).

16 On December 29, 2020, Defendants moved to dismiss the action. (ECF No. 4). Plaintiff,
17 through his counsel, filed an opposition to the motion to dismiss. (ECF No. 6). On September 7,
18 2021 this court granted Defendants' motion to dismiss with leave to amend. (ECF No. 26).

19 On September 22, 2021 Plaintiff filed amended complaint. (ECF No. 27).

21 On October 4, 2021 Plaintiff's counsel filed the motion to withdraw as attorney. (ECF 22 No. 29). Immediately after filing the motion to withdraw, Defendants filed the second motion to 23 dismiss the amended complaint. (ECF No. 30). On October 7, 2021, in light of the pending
24 motion to withdraw, the parties stipulated to reset the hearing date (and corresponding briefing
25 schedule) on Defendants' motion to dismiss from November 4, 2021 to January 13, 2022 at 2:00
26

1 p.m. (ECF No. 31). Parties agreed about new hearing date to give pro se Plaintiff enough time to 2 prepare the opposition to the motion to dismiss. Plaintiff was instructed by his counsel that he
3 must file opposition to the motion to dismiss on or before December 30, 2021. On October 13,
4 2021 the court granted the motion to withdraw Plaintiff's counsel. (ECF No. 32).

6 On November 18, 2021 the Magistrate judge issued an order continuing the motion to 7 dismiss hearing to December 8, 2021 (with the deadline for filing the opposition no later than 8 November 24, 2021). This order was mailed to Plaintiff, but Plaintiff had not enough time to 9 prepare and file an opposition to the motion to dismiss.

10 III. Standard of Review

11 When a party files written objections to the Magistrate Judge's Report and 12 Recommendation, the District Court makes a de novo determination of those portions of the 13 report to which specific objection is made and must affirm, reject, or modify the 14 recommendation. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) (1); Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 72(b).
15

16 IV. Argument

17 A. Plaintiff was not properly served with the notice informing about the date of 18 hearing of the motion.

19 Initially, the motion to dismiss hearing was set on November 4, 2021 (ECF No. 30). On 20 October 7, 2021, in light of the pending motion to withdraw, the parties stipulated to reset the 21 hearing date (and corresponding briefing schedule) on Defendants' motion to dismiss from 22 November 4, 2021 to January 13, 2022 at 2:00 p.m. (ECF No. 31). Pursuant to the Local Rule 23 230, an opposition to the motion shall be filed and served not less than 14 days preceding the 24 notice hearing date. Thus, pursuant to the stipulation the deadline for filing an opposition to the 25
26

1 motion was December 30, 2021. On October 22, 2021 Defendants' counsel issued Re-notice of 2 motion to dismiss first amended complaint (ECF No. 35). This notice states that the hearing date
3 was changed from January 13, 2022 to December 1, 2021. Pursuant to the proof of service for 4 ECF No. 35, the notice was sent via email.

6 It is well-settled by our courts that email service is not proper if a party has not consented
7 to electronic service in writing. Under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, electronic service of 8 documents on a party that has already been served with the summons in the action is allowed
9 through consent of the party being served. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 5(b)(2)(E) ("sending it by other 10 electronic means that the person consented to in writing"). California law similarly requires 11 consent for service by e-mail. See Cal. Rules of Court, rule 2.251(b) ("A party or other person
12 indicates that the party or other person agrees to accept electronic service by ... [s]erving a notice
13 on all parties and other persons that the party or other person accepts electronic service and filing
14 the notice with the court. The notice must include the electronic service address at which the 15 party or other person agrees to accept service."); Lasalle v. Vogel, 36 Cal. App. 5th 127, 138, 248 16 Cal. Rptr. 3d 263, 270-71 (2019) ("We find it significant that by law e-mails are insufficient to 17 serve notices on counsel in an ongoing case without prior agreement and written confirmation ...
18

20 In Brooke v. Sai Ashish, Inc., No. 121CV00967AWISAB, 2021 WL 3723216, at *2 (E.D.
21 Cal. Aug. 23, 2021), the court did not accept service via email without party's consent stating 22 that "Nowhere in counsel's declaration does he appear to proffer that Defendant or any of 23 Defendant's representatives expressly consented to service by e-mail in writing." In Davis v.
24 Elec. Arts Inc., No. 10-CV-03328-RS (DMR), 2017 WL 8948082, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 12, 25 2017) the court denied the motion holding that the party did not properly serve the opposing 26

1 party with the document at issue. The court further stated that the use of email in communication
2 does not constitute “consent[ ] in writing,” which the Advisory Committee notes make clear
3 “must be express, and cannot be implied from conduct.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 5, Advisory Committee
4 Notes, 2001 Amendment). In Gillette v. Stater Bros. Markets, No. EDCV191292JVSKKX, 2020
5 WL 1904663, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 16, 2020), the court found that “There is no evidence
6 Defendant agreed to accept service by electronic means. Therefore, Plaintiff’s delivery of the 7 initial disclosures by email did not comply with the requirements for effective service under 8 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 5.”

10 Defendants failed to properly serve the Plaintiff with the notice informing about a new 11 hearing date. Plaintiff has not consented to receive documents via email. Accordingly, 12 Defendants’ notice informing about a new hearing date was not proper.

14 B. Dismissal the case for failure to prosecute would be an abuse of discretion.

15 Generally, a dismissal for failure to prosecute is not equivalent to a dismissal on the 16 grounds that an action is “frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be 17 granted.” See Butler v. Department of Justice, 492 F.3d 440, 443 (D.C.Cir.2007) (dismissal for 18 failure to prosecute made without regard to merits of claim does not constitute strike).

19 A district judge is required to weigh several factors in determining whether to dismiss a 20 case for lack of prosecution. Henderson v. Duncan, 779 F.2d 1421, 1423 (9th Cir.1986). These 21 factors include: “(1) the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court’s
22 need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy
23 favoring disposition of cases on their merits and (5) the availability of less drastic sanctions.” Id.
24 There must also be a showing of unreasonable delay. Id.

1 The first two factors do not favor dismissal. Plaintiff failed to timely file the opposition to 2 the motion to dismiss because he instructed his previous attorney and reasonable believed that
3 the deadline to file the opposition was December 30, 2021. Defendants failed to properly serve
4 Plaintiff with the notice that the hearing date was changed to December 1, 2021 (the deadline for 5 filing the opposition was also changed). Later, the Magistrate judge change the hearing date to 6 December 8, 2021, with the deadline for filing the opposition no later than November 24, 2021.
7 But this order was mailed to Plaintiff only on November 18, 2021, not giving pro se Plaintiff
8 enough time to respond the motion.

10 Regarding the third factor, the risk of prejudice to Defendants, “only unreasonable delay 11 will support a dismissal for lack of prosecution and unreasonableness is not inherent in every 12 lapse of time.” Nealey v. Transportacion Maritima Mexicana, 662 F.2d 1275, 1280 (9th Cir.
13 1980) (citation omitted). Where a district court finds unreasonable delay, prejudice is presumed 14 to exist. In re Eisen, 31 F.3d 1447, 1452–53 (9th Cir. 1994). But, here, the conduct was not so 15 egregious, or without remedy, that there was prejudice to Defendants. Not all delays were 16 unreasonable or caused by Plaintiff. Defendants also caused this delay by failing to serve 17 Plaintiff pursuant to the Fed. R. Civ. P. 5(b)(2)(E).
18

19 The remaining two factors do not support dismissal. The public policy favoring 20 disposition on the merits almost always weighs against dismissal; this case is no exception. See
21 Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 291 F.3d 639, 643 (9th Cir. 2002). The availability-of-alternatives factor
22 also weighs against dismissal. This factor generally supports dismissal if the district court
23 “explicitly discuss[ed] the feasibility of less drastic sanctions and explain[ed] why alternative 24 sanctions would be inadequate,” implemented lesser sanctions before dismissing the lawsuit, or 25
26

1 warned plaintiffs beforehand of the possibility of dismissal. Malone v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833
 2 F.2d 128, 132 (9th Cir. 1987); accord Hernandez v. City of El Monte, 138 F.3d 393, 401 (9th Cir.
 3 1998). These sub-factors are “a way for a district judge to think about what to do, not ... a script
 4 for making what the district judge does appeal-proof.” Conn. Gen. Life Ins., 482 F.3d at 1096
 5 (citation omitted). While the district court noted that “no lesser sanction is likely [to] be 6 effective,” the district court did not reasonably explore the feasibility of alternatives to dismissal.
 7 Anderson v. Air West, Inc., 542 F.2d 522, 525 (9th Cir. 1976); see also Malone, 833 F.2d at 132
 8 (“We have indicated a preference for explicit discussion by the district court of the feasibility of 9 alternatives when ordering dismissal.”). In the present case, the court should have discussed or 10 employed a lesser sanction before dismissing the lawsuit, especially when the motion to dismiss 11 was filed immediately after withdrawal of attorney and changing deadline for failing opposition.
 12 The “harsh remedy” of dismissal required the district court to reasonably explore “meaningful 13 alternatives ... bearing in mind the drastic foreclosure of rights that dismissal effects.” Nevijel v.
 14 N. Coast Life Ins. Co., 651 F.2d 671, 674 (9th Cir. 1981). And the harshness of the dispositive 15 sanction, without a reasonable consideration of lesser alternatives weighs heavily against 16 dismissal with prejudice. See Valley Eng'rs Inc. v. Elec. Eng'g Co., 158 F.3d 1051, 1057 (9th 17 Cir. 1998) (“While contumaciousness toward the court needs a remedy, something other than 18 case-dispositive sanctions will often suffice.”)

19 In sum, all factors weigh against dismissal. Accordingly, the dismissal would be an abuse 20 of discretion.

21 V. Conclusion

22 For these reasons, Plaintiff Robbie D. White respectfully requests this Court to reject
 23

1 Magistrate Judge's recommendations with regard to dismissal for lack of prosecution and for 2 failure to comply with the court's order. Plaintiff should be allowed to file an opposition to the 3 motion to dismiss.
